On-premise Vs Cloud: Which one to opt for while selecting a legal risk management solution in India?

Most companies have drifted towards managing their legal risks via various risk management software solutions, it is, therefore, important to determine which type of deployment to opt for, while selecting your solution.

When it comes to a choice between on-premise or cloud software deployment, it is one of the toughest decisions for an organization to make, as one of them provides direct control over the infrastructure, while the other is the more economical and feasible option....Read More
